CRITICAL CONSUMER NEEDS

SpringFour asked agents and counselors to report back on the most critical financial health issues facing their customers. Results show that basic needs and living expenses are causing families financial stress – making access to resources critical. SpringFour continues to see high demand for food, housing, and utility resources, among other categories.

Agents and counselors say these are the most pressing financial health concerns facing their customers.

TESTIMONIALS

SpringFour referrals provide real-world impacts that help families pay for basic needs and achieve their financial health goals-- while helping improve companies' brand value and bottom line. Users describe the tangible benefits SpringFour brings their customers.

"A client of mine was able to reduce her internet bill to $14 a month with the emergency broadband program referral from SpringFour, and she was thrilled."

--Carol, InCharge Debt Solutions

"Recently, a client was skeptical about our ability to find resources for food in her area, as she had tried "everywhere." SpringFour returned results that she had not located on her own. When we followed up a few days later, she had in fact received some much needed assistance!"

-- Jackie, Money Management International (MMI)

"My customer gained temporary employment from a SpringFour referral."

-- Gina, BMO Harris Bank

"A customer who was facing financial hardship was happy to know she could be provided with local resources. I helped her find rental resources, food savings, and heating/utility assistance."

--Azuri, Salary Finance
